Oil Run-Off Gets In Drag River

Last Friday, March 9, between noon hour and 1:00 p.m., some local citizens happened to notice that oil was in the water that was running under the cement bridge on Maple Street here in the Village of Haliburton. Being pollution conscious, as everyone is today, they started to phone the police, Echo office and the local Health Unit to see just what was causing this.

As the two local Health Inspectors were out of town at the time, the local Health Unit contacted Mr. J. P. Roussel, P.Eng., District Engineering Section of the Sanitary Engineering Branch, Ministry of the Environment, who at that time was making his way back to Toronto when he received the message and then he immediately drove to Haliburton to look into the matter.

In the meantime, Mr. Cecil B. Winter, the By-Law Enforcement Officer for the Municipality of Dysart et al, was right on the job and started to make his way up the Drag River to see where the oil was coming from. When Mr. Roussel arrived in town, he joined Mr. Winter and they found that the oil in the river was coming from a spring run-off in the vicinity of Haliburton Machine & Manufacturing Ltd., just below the dam.

We understand that measures are being taken to correct the situation.

Letter To The Editor

Sent in by Mervin Mintz, R.R. 1, Minden, Ontario

The Editor,
Haliburton County Echo,
Haliburton, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

I wish the space in your valuable paper to relate this story of my life.

I am known as "Buck White-tail", my residence is in Haliburton County with all its beautiful lakes, streams and woods. I am free to wander and explore its beauty in spring, summer and fall. In winter I must join a number of my species in certain areas to yard as we can only get food in these areas. Last fall I met "Miss Doe White-tail" and we chose to yard with others west of Haliburton Lake. After seeing many of my kin run down and devoured by our murderers (the wolf), it became our turn. A group of five wolves set out to hunt us. My mate was heavy with fawn and was not as nimble as I, so I led her to an area where some men were lumbering, hoping this would discourage our murderers but they paid no heed to the shouts and yells of these men as we had ran close to them. Some minutes later, the wolves had caught and killed my beautiful mate while I stood beyond and watched.

I must finish this letter to you quickly, as I know even with all my speed and skill they will soon be after me. It will be only a matter of time until I am surrounded and slaughtered, thus destroying another family of my species.

I beg of you to try and impress someone in charge of our beautiful country, if not to do away with these murderers, at least to control them so my species, those which are left, if any, may have a chance to live.

If in any doubt of the truth of this incidence, please contact the local lumbermen for confirmation.

Yours sincerely,

Buck White-tail.

College Evening Enrolment Shows 15 Per Cent Increase

A projected enrolment of 4,200 evening students has now been reached by the Continuing Education Division of Sir Sandford Fleming College, representing a 15 per cent increase over last year.

While the bulk of the increase is attributed to rising popularity of these programs in Cobourg and Lindsay, courses offered for the first time in Cobocook, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Harcourt and Kirkfield attracted 114 students, according to Continuing Education Director Fred Anderson.

Total registrations in Haliburton Village reached 70. The classes have been held there in past years, however, through an electronic teaching link with Peterborough classrooms.

Cobourg showed an increase of 33 per cent with a total registration of 574, and Lindsay enrolment totalled 709, increasing by 16 per cent. In Peterborough, where such classes have been established for a longer period of time, there was a five per cent increase, and a total registration of 2,360.

An additional 400 attended the Haliburton School of Fine Arts summer and fall classes to make up the overall total.

Mr. Anderson said another area of growth is in afternoon programs for housewives and others with a flexible daily schedule.

"Approximately 90 women have attended classes of this kind in Cobourg and Peterborough and present planning includes an even greater effort to serve the particular needs of this important segment of the community," Mr. Anderson said.

Sir Sandford offers credit courses leading to diplomas or certificates in business, general and applied arts and technical fields, non-credit general interest programs, and special courses tailored to specific needs of business and industry.

In terms of teaching hours, $2.5 per cent has been devoted to credit courses this year, with the balance in the other two areas.

Uncle Dudley's Column

When I was in the Red Cross Hospital in Minden, it was with much regret that I heard of the passing of Alfred Allcorn. I was very sorry, owing to health conditions, that I was unable to visit with Alfred during his lengthy stay in hospital.

My first meeting with Alfred was many moons ago — I think in the late 20's. There was a picnic in Black's field at Maple Lake, and the Carnarvon boys had a baseball team then, of which I was captain. We were to play Maple Lake boys and Alfred was on the team at the time he was on the M&D (Mickle and Dymont) log drive from Moose Lake.

Later in the 20's, when we operated a sawmill on Twelve Mile Lake, he was our engineer — steam of course at that time. The engine was a cranky affair but he could nurse more power out of it than any other man, unless it was Charlie Schell.

I could tell many, many interesting yarns of those days, but I will just give you one. When walking down the street in Haliburton Village some twenty years ago I was hailed from across the street by the salutation "How are you today, Slim?". I knew it must have been an old time friend, for this was a nickname given me by the boys (about 20 years old, six feet tall, weighing some 120 pounds) — no wonder the name. I was soon across the street renewing our friendship. When asked what he was doing, he said: "I have a nice easy chair and look after the engine power for the power at the new arena." No need to ask you, Alf, no problems — the engine is purring away perfectly, hold fast to your chair.

He was a splendid engineer and he was a good man.

I join with all the friends in sympathy with the family in his passing.

Peace be with you!

THINGS THAT BUILD UP BLOOD PRESSURE

Most of the major disasters of life I can accept with a certain equanimity.

It's the little things in life, the almost daily irritants, that keep me in such a flaming rage that I can almost hear my great-uncle, Mountain Jack Thomson, the wildest-tempered man in the entire Ottawa Valley about ninety years ago, whisper, "That's my boy, One of the old stock, Give 'em hell, William."

I have ridden, or flown, into the valley of death, and come out with nothing twitching except my sphincter muscles.

I have landed an aircraft with a fused bomb dangling from one wing, climbed out to face the fire truck and the ambulance, and managed a quiet, "You're making a lot of noise with those sirens, chaps. Hard on the nerves, you know," before fainting.

When I was shot down and crashed in a plowed field in Holland, my first thought was, "Dammit, I won't be able to keep that date with Tita tonight." Tita was in Antwerp, several hundred miles away. A logical and calm conclusion.

When I was beaten up for an attempted escape, I didn't rail against anyone, including the beaters. I lay there quietly in the boxcar, hands and feet wired together, licked my wounds and said to myself, "Serves you right, you nit, for trying to be a hero. You weren't cut out."

When our train rode through the German night and right into a major bombing raid on Leipzig, I looked down on my grovelling, screaming, praying, calling-for-mother fellow prisoners, and thought coolly, "There, but for the grace of God and the fact that I can't get out of this luggage rack (where I was resting) would be I." Sedate, poised, Paralyzed.

That was in war-time, of course, and a man had to keep a stiff upper, not to mention nether lip.

But life since has brought the same sort of thing. Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned, somebody said. Oh, yes, it hath. Try this.

Tell your wife you'll be home for dinner at six. Arrive home at 3:00 a.m. with a couple of cronies you've invited for a late snack. "Nah, she won't mind. Come on, what're you, scared of your wife?"

A woman scorned, compared to a woman waiting, is like a Boy Scout troop compared to a panzer division.

We'll all agree then, that I've faced the worst without flinching, without becoming hysterical with fear or rage.

What I can't cope with is the daily degradations. The insults to intelligence. The utter stupidity of bureaucrats and the malicious heckling of inanimate objects. I'm afraid I lose every vestige of coolth, sang-froid, poise, and reason.

Item. As though it knew exactly what I was writing about, my typewriter just broke a ribbon. And I just broke my typewriter. After using the name of the Lord, the typewriter company, and various other deities in vain, I beat the thing with my bare hands. All I got was ink up to my wrists, and a laconic, snide remark from my wife in the next room that she'd already had her hair curled, thank you.

Item. They're cutting down the trees. The stupid bureaucrats. May they roast in eternal flames. And why are they cutting down the trees? So they can widen the roads for more stinking, rotten cars.

Item. They (meaning the mindless bureaucrats) are renumbering all the addresses in town. We were 303 and now we're 613 or 631 or something. I don't even know where I live anymore.

Of all the flaming, ridiculous, useless, idiotic, moronic, expensive . . . Steady, old Man. Remember the blood pressure.

Mr. Edgar Barry has returned back home.

Mrs. Margaret Cook spent a week with the Thompsons at Huntsville.

Mr. Cec Hackett was in the community and enjoyed a few days of ice fishing.

Gooderham News

We are glad to hear that Bertha McColl is back home after a session at the Red Cross Hospital at Minden. Her husband, Tom McColl, although retired now for several years, is still active and he still makes the best axe handles and other wooden implements that can be obtained. This is one of the skills that is fast disappearing but Tom knows the kind of wood to use, how it has to be seasoned and how to shape it. Keep it up, Tom, we still need you.

Victoria Agnew, that active girl who had represented the Township on the County Board of Education and who had very successfully occupied the position of Reeve, is now in a hospital in Peterborough. We hope she soon recovers and is active with us again.

Last year a new building was erected for a Library, but putting up a building is not making a library. We are fortunate in having a competent and interested Librarian in the person of Margaret Pickens, who is anxious to have the building completed so that the re-organization of the Library can get under way. We are informed that Gooderham has one of the busiest libraries in the county.

On several occasions there have been fits and starts in organizing a local hockey team, but it has always faltered. However, this year, under the management of Larry Hunter, it would seem that we are under way. We understand that the team now has equipment and are practising twice a week. This year is pretty well spent for local hockey, but if we are ready for next year it should give an opportunity for the local lads to get a good start.

The recent accident near this village where an eleven-year-old boy was injured while driving a snowmobile again points up the need for great care in the use of these vehicles. One of the essentials it would seem is to be sure the driver is wearing a helmet, and we suggest there should be a nationally recognized colour on the helmet such as orange or light blue which can be instantly recognized. This should also apply to the machine. The colour probably should also be fluorescent, since often snowmobiles are towed or being landed on trailers after dark.

Tory Hill News

The Euchre Party held at the Tory Hill Schoolhouse on Wednesday night had a good turnout, with Caroline Stamp winning the most lone hands prize, Kath Anderson with women's high and Shirley Stamp with men's high, and Vera Riel with the boobie prize for the low count.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Riel and daughters Cindy and Angela of Lindsay visited with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riel on Sunday.

Vera Riel was in Peterborough on Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Len Gill.

The St. Patrick's Dance was held on Saturday night in the schoolhouse and a good number attended. The music was supplied by Paddy Welch and Glen Virtue of Bowmanville. A good time was had by all, and we hope they keep up these dances.

Mr. Ross Anderson attended a Civil Service Convention held in Toronto last weekend.

Pauline Hubbard was back to her home for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cully and Lyle Cully and Susan Kirkpatrick visited with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cully.

West Guilford Community Centre Presents Their Program

Since the first of the year 1973 our Community Centre has appointed four people to carry out a program by which the building will be cared for, and an Involvement Program through which the community may become involved in the several facets of community life considering pre-school and school children to our elderly citizens.

The Involvement Program for our Centre is as follows:

1. Pre-School Program
 - for children under school age whose mothers work
 - providing companionship of others with chance to play and make things together
 - allowing mothers to socialize and spend time, if they wish, creatively with interests of their own
 - daily basis or whatever is most convenient — days 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
- (NOTE: anyone interested, such as working mothers, a cost of $10.00 per week, and other mothers who do not have working hours away from home, or who wish to shop, etc., can repay on a co-operative basis.)
2. Make-It Program
 - for pre-teens (6 to 12)
 - creating with paper-mache, painting, collage, puppets, etc.
 - 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. Saturday afternoons.
3. Drop-In Program
 - for young adults (13 to 20 plus)
 - providing instruction and materials for painting, collage, leatherwork, macrame, crochet, soapstone carving, candle-making, guitar and music, sewing (hand or machine)
 - 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. Saturday evenings.
4. We foresee a club for those over 60 years
 - taking part in checkers, chess, cards (euchre, bridge, etc.), games (table), quilting bees
 - during days that are most convenient, and we will be glad to arrange days and transportation.
5. After Four Program
 - for all ages of children
 - a room to study, a place to play and or do crafts, a music room to listen to records and practise guitar.

Now, because we have hired two qualified people for six days a week, the possibilities for this Centre are unlimited. Activities such as weaving and theatre presentations could evolve with participation by others in the community. There are many talented people in this community who can make this Centre a very exciting place to take part in, or be in. Let us get involved now so that a schedule, a time-table for the pre-schoolers, can be laid out, and any assistance you can offer to keep this moving will be most appreciated; you will be the ones who will reap any benefits that may be derived whether tangible or intangible. By doing this, when time makes it necessary for our two people in charge of the Involvement Program to leave, the programs can still be carried on and thus keep our Centre an exciting and helpful place for all ages, for all the surrounding area.

Therefore we would like people to feel free to call Dave and Nancy at the Centre — 754-2012 — whether it be in times of help, or to discuss a working and workable program. Suggestions and ideas are appreciated. There is room for many and all. (Perhaps the ladies would save any items of use in the above programs when they are house-cleaning — telephone the Centre number.)

Should you think this is all we do, we shall let you in on other activities such as Card Parties bi-weekly on Thursday evenings, TOPS programs, TOPS dances, St. John's Ambulance Course, etc. These can be confirmed by calling 754-2012. Mr. Eugene Ripley is in charge of the whole program of building and involvement programs — he may be reached at the same number, 754-2012.

Therefore, I feel we should become community-minded and get this series of events moving so that it can become a perennial success.

M.L.H.

Church News

RIGHTLY DIVIDING
THE WORD — NUMBER 4

I. - The New Testament.
(a) It is the New, not the Old, that the sinner today finds the way to God, the terms of pardon, the conditions of fellowship with the Father and of eternal life. And it is in it that he finds the promises of God to us. These promises are guaranteed by the blood of God's own Son.

II. - When Did The New Testament Begin?
(a) Since the New Testament is the Will of Jesus, it could only come into force after He was dead — Hebrews 9:16-17.
(b) It was taught by Christ, but He told his followers not to teach it until after He was dead — Matthew 16:20-21; 17:9; Luke 24:48-49.

(c) It was necessary that the Old be removed — Hebrews 10.
(d) The New Testament went into effect on the day of Pentecost, this was 50 days after Christ arose from the grave.

III. - Divisions Of The New Testament.

(a) The first four books are biographies of Christ's life. They are written so that we might believe that He is the Son of God — John 20:30-31.

(b) Acts is the one book of history. This book contains a history of the early church, and gives us the cases of conversion. It tells us what it took during that first century to become a Christian. It also gives us some of the work of the early church.
(c) The next 21 epistles (or letters) tells us how to live after we obey the gospel. They are for the believers, and are all addressed to individual Christians or to different congregations of the Lord's people.
(d) This brings us to the final words of God to man. The book of Revelation. This book is a book of prophecy, Revelation 1:19 — "Write the things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter."

IV. - We have four books written to make us believers in Christ, one written to tell us what to do to be saved, 21 written to tell us how to stay saved, and one to give us a picture of the hereafter.

James Hughett - Minister,
P.O. Box 458, Haliburton, Ont.

GODLY RESPECT FOR BLOOD

The Holy Bible frequently uses "blood" to stand for "life". This is because the life or soul is in the blood (Lev. 17:11). Since Jehovah is the Creator of blood he knows more about it than any of us, and he has the full right to say what may be done with it. It was first after the global flood that Jehovah granted human-kind permission to eat animal flesh. So at that time he also gave them his law on blood, saying: "Every moving animal that is alive may serve as food for you. As in the case of green vegetation, I do give it all to you. Only flesh with its soul — its blood — you must not eat." (Genesis 9:3-4). Later, that law was embodied in the commandments given to the nation of Israel, and God's Word makes it binding on Christians as well. After thoroughly discussing Jehovah's requirements for Christians, the governing body of the early Christian congregation wrote to the non-Jewish believers: "The holy spirit and we ourselves have favoured adding no further burden to you, except these necessary things, to keep yourselves free from things sacrificed to idols and from blood and from things strangled and from fornication. If you carefully keep yourselves from these things you will prosper. Good health to you!" (Acts 15:28,29). Our keeping free from blood is a serious matter having been put on a level with avoiding fornication and idolatry. It is evident that we should not eat the flesh of an animal that has not been bled (Deut. 12:15,16). Nor should we consume animal blood by itself or mixed in other foods. But is it only the blood of animals that is involved? Certainly Jehovah did not forbid mankind to eat animal blood while permitting him to eat human blood, as if it were less sacred! He made this clear when he later said to the Israelites: "As for any man... who eats any sort of blood, I shall certainly set my face against the soul that is eating the blood." (Lev. 17:10). This was well understood by the early Christians. Even though it was commonly believed that drinking the blood of another human would benefit one's health, they knew that lasting good health, both physical and spiritual, depended upon obedience to Jehovah. Tertullian, a Christian writer of the second and third centuries, spoke against this practice of drinking blood, saying, "Blush for your vile ways before the Christians who have not even the blood of animals at their meals..." "You tempt Christians with sausages of blood..." They understood God's law to include blood of every kind, animal and human.

Report From Parliament Hill

By WILLIAM C. SCOTT, M.P.

The minority Liberal Government tabled its first budget just recently with a great deal of fanfare, announcing that it was the great cure-all for the problems that have been plaguing the country for the past four or five years.

Mr. Stanfield immediately denounced the budget as not containing any measures that would stimulate the economy, reduce unemployment or cope with the continuing rise in the cost of living.

One of the puzzling aspects of the budget is that it represents a complete turnabout in the government's thinking with regard to such things as taxation and pensions for veterans and the elderly. In fact, Mr. Stanfield said that the budget repudiates everything the government has been saying for years.

Now that we have been able to assess the various items in the budget it has become clear that it was intended more to ensure the continuation in power of the government than to come to grips with economic problems. Ironically, the N.D.P. announced that it would support the budget in any votes of confidence that are moved in the House, and this in itself indicates the thinking behind the budget.

The most surprising aspect of the budget is the number of measures that were taken from the Conservative Party's campaign platform in the last election, things that we in the Opposition have been urging the government to do over the past four years. In fact, we have stressed over and over again that these are the things we would consider priority programs if we were to form the government.

One of these is a reduction in personal income taxes. Last May Mr. Turner, the Finance Minister, said that his government would not consider reducing personal income taxes, saying that it would be a prescription for putting Canada into bankruptcy. What a statement from a government that is not only bankrupt of ideas, but is moving Canada steadily towards economic bankruptcy.

Personal income taxes are being reduced in the present budget, but not as much as we would have liked. The average taxpayer will benefit by about two per cent, and this is hardly worth crowing about. It is significant that Mr. Turner said that, in spite of reductions in personal income taxes, the government's yield from personal income taxes would increase in the coming year by 15 per cent.

Pensions for the elderly have been increased, but here again it is not enough. The increase, to $100.00 for the basic pension, does not offset the increases in the cost of food, shelter and other necessities over the last three to four years. Veterans' pensions will go up, but the budget does not restore the minimum pension set by Parliament, established as the prevailing wage for unskilled labour in government.

The budget eliminates the capital gains tax imposed last year by the government on farms passed to a surviving member of a family on the death of the owner. This is only half an answer. Provision should be made for passing a farm on to a son or daughter in cases where the owner wishes to retire. There are many cases where a farmer would like to retire, give his farm to his son, and either move into town or stay around for a while and assist the son to get off to a proper start in running his farm.

It is too early to know what type of legislation the government will table in connection with the budget, and so we in the Opposition will have to reserve our final judgement until the legislation is tabled. We want many of the measures in the budget to become law and so we will not oppose the budget in its entirety when we debate it in the Commons. We will be selective, and try to move amendments that will improve it.

The Government's first budget passed through the House of Commons at the end of last month, with the help of the New Democratic Party, and the House is now considering the first piece of legislation to flow from that budget.

National Health and Welfare Minister Lalonde has tabled a bill to raise the basic old age pension to 100 dollars per month, starting on April 1st of this year. Beginning on April 1st, 1974, the pension will be increased each year according to a formula to be worked out by the department.

This increase will hopefully offset increases in the cost of living over the previous year, and ensure that the buying power of pensions will remain constant. Whether or not it will have the desired effect will not be known until we know what the formula will be, and until we have had some experience with its operation.

It is too easy to be critical of everything that the government does, and indeed, it is the responsibility of the Opposition to question all government legislation and all government policies. For that reason I try to suggest alternatives whenever I criticize.

In an earlier column I have already taken the government to task over things I felt were left out of the budget that should have been included. These included the lack of measures to deal effectively with the problems of unemployment and inflation.

Now that we have specific legislation on one of the items in the budget, namely the raising of old age pensions, I must say that I am disappointed with the government's proposal, and I will suggest what I consider to be reasonable alternatives.

To begin with, while the increase in the basic pension to 100 dollars is an improvement, it is not enough. The yearly increase will also be an improvement, but the formula will not restore the loss of buying power for pensioners as a result of inflation over the past four or five years.

The Conservative Opposition has suggested that increasing pensions to 110 dollars per month would have been more reasonable and equitable, providing there was also an escalation formula to offset the effects of future inflation.

During my election campaign I proposed that the eligibility age for drawing old age security should be lowered to age 60, and the response I received from all over the Riding convinced me that people generally approved of my proposal.

By lowering the age to 60, several beneficial effects would result. First of all, people who have given forty years of their lives to the work force would be able to retire while still young enough to enjoy a few years of leisure. However, retirement at 60 would not be mandatory but would be optional for those who want to continue to work.

Secondly, jobs would be opened up at the other end of the line, jobs that would have long-term, career opportunities for young people. Present government programs, such as Opportunities For Youth, L.I.P., and so on, are stop-gap, short-term jobs that have no real meaning to career-minded youth.

There are many people today who have begun to feel the effects of a life of toil, but are still too young to retire without serious loss of retirement benefits. Some of these people should be retired. Continuing to work means that many of them will have their lives unnecessarily shortened, and in any case, they will be too ill or disabled to enjoy retirement when it becomes available to them.

We have reached a point in the development of our government and our society where old age security is an accepted responsibility of government. We have made a start, and we have learned a lot about the business of old age security in the past few years that we did not know before. It is time now to accept the fact that we have been dealing so far with tokenism.

Minden Library Committee Meeting

The Minden Library Committee comprised of Mr. Lionel Rowe, Mrs. Doug McGee, Mrs. William Moore, and Mr. Robert Gorrie representing the Council, met at the Minden Library with Librarian Mrs. M. Sears on Thursday, February 22.

As this was the first meeting of the year, much time was spent discussing the budget and improvements to be made in 1973. The financial report was also reviewed and it was decided to review the insurance carried on the building at the next meeting.

The Committee decided to ask Hugh Kirkland to touch up the Library signs as they are now becoming faded.

As some of the improvements for this year will be a magazine rack and a start made on proper adjustable shelving, Mr. Rowe and Mr. Gorrie were asked to check on prices before the next meeting.

The Committee thanked the Librarian for her efforts on their behalf and expressed their pleasure at the way the circulation is growing each year.

The meeting was then adjourned until March.

The Committee were most happy over the display of very old books which the Library has, and wish to promote this project as it is believed this is the only display in the area. Some of these books are very nearly 100 years old and some are out of print, so the Committee feels that this is an added attraction to the Library and would be very happy to receive other very old or rare books for this corner as they wish to enlarge the collection. So if anyone would be interested in helping with this project, please contact the Secretary, Mrs. W. Moore, or the Librarian for further details. These books are not allowed out of the Library, but you may browse through them there. You know the old saying, "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away" - well, old books never die and the Committee do not wish them to fade away. They wish to preserve them for the future. Any type of very old book is a welcome addition, so be sure that your grandparents' books do not get into the garbage. If they can be saved at all, we are very willing to try and save them by repairing covers and placing them with the others on display. Books are like people, they do not wish to be discarded unnecessarily.

Letter To Editor

March 6, 1973.

The Editor,
Haliburton County Echo,
Haliburton, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

I read the article by Elva Bates and I couldn't believe it. To think people would use an unfortunate accident to praise themselves.

The reporters generally get their information from the police and hospital authorities, as was done in this case. Whatever made Mrs. Bates think they should have come to her for information I don't know, as volunteer statements could be damaging later on when stated in the press like this. The way she stated it, you would think the facts had come out at a trial or something.

Just to get things straight around here, this is the way the accident happened, using the measurements and the snowmobile being hit from behind. Byron was attempting to cross Highway 503 from his brother's home about one-and-a-half miles west of Gooderham. He had crossed the through lane of traffic and was 97 feet down along the white line when the Bates car attempted to pass him on the right instead of going to the left as is usually done when coming upon a slow moving vehicle, and the car hit the snowmobile in the rear end and dragged it along the side of the car for 157 feet. There was no evidence on the road to indicate brakes had been applied. The condition of the road was dry, visibility good.

She must have thought there was some doubt in people's minds or she would not have used the press to get their story across.

Mr. Editor, in the future I hope you will not allow space for information of this kind — this does cause needless trouble. There is enough gossiping around here now without providing further access.

Sincerely,
Mrs. George MacDuff,
Gooderham, Ontario.
